

Sophia Bianchi

401 W Kennedy Blvd, Tampa, Fl 33606

sophia.bianchi@spartans.ut.edu

My name is Sophia Bianchi, and I am studying a Bachelors and Fine Arts degree in Film and Media Arts at The University of Tampa. I am a passionate screenwriter, director, and filmmaker. In my search for ..., I was excited to find your company. Your mission statement about creating an environment for teen adults really caught my eye because I think that is something that gets overlooked sometimes. Young adults don't have a direct group of tv shows and films accessible to just them, so they may get caught watching very immature or too mature media. With this in mind, I believe I would make a great asset to your team. I am an ambitious creator and am willing to learn much more.

Searching for different opportunities and learning enhanced solutions to business challenges are activities that determine and inspire me. In my time at The University of Tampa, I've had time to work on many student projects in regard to my major to help me better understand my enhancement in film. Projects I've worked on and am currently working on excite me and give me great motivation. I currently edit on Adobe Premiere Pro, Final Cut Pro, and Adobe After Effects. Passion, and motivation are my key qualities for success. I believe that different perspectives and new technologies help businesses evolve and grow. For ..., my goal is to provide helpful material and grow new additions to the film industry, especially in sectioning out programs per age group, as said in your mission statement.

Contributions from my former employment roles revolve around my creativity and communication skills. I have developed strong leadership abilities and developed a reputation as a key contributor through innovation and decision making skills. I have a passionate eye behind the camera and am a large team leader. While I am collaborative with peers, I have always searched for many ways to make new contributions. Through these qualities, I have confidence in my ability to radiate positive ideas looking forward with